Last Updated Wednesday, 07 April 2010

Les T has previously owner built a few houses and shared some articles with us before. One such interesting article was about registering with the NHBRC as an owner builder. You can read that article here . Les is about to embark on a new owner building project which we are going to follow as I know there are many readers interesting in the owner building option. The first instalment of this owner building project follows.

A sketch diagram of the proposed building is shown below.

A 3-D Drawing of the proposed house is shown below.

A Schedule of House Costs .

Schedule of Finishes. Les will keep us updated as the project unfolds so we can see how closely it comes within the budget and proposed Schedule of House Costs. {nomultithumb}{nomultithumb}
