Smoke detectors

Friday, 07 January 2011

I read a horrible story the other day in the newspaper - a cellphone charger had been left plugged in and caused a fire in the home. Every home should have smoke detectors. The best place to fit them is in or near a ceiling close to the sleeping areas, away from corners, windows and doors. At the top of a stairwell is also a good location. Have your smoke detectors professionally fitted and tested regularly! Change the battery regularly!
