

Marrakesh: Decorative Painting Retreat - October 2011

Monday, 05 September 2011

Last Updated Monday, 05 September 2011

Decorative Painting Retreat at Maryam's beautiful Peacock Pavilions in Marrakesh with Melanie Royals. Melanie's blog, Designamour, is filled with inspiration and decor ideas. Melanie coordinates painting adventures to exotic places and this October a band of intrepid painters will be visiting Maryam's beautiful Peacock Pavilions in Marrakesh to embark on yet another creative design journey. If you want to be part of it or just read all about it, go and visit my two most favourite blogs in the world. Maryam, whose blog, My Marrakesh, is a feast of visual delight, says: "You can learn many of the techniques used at Peacock Pavilions. And go on to make your own place yet more beautiful! All you need is some instruction from Melanie, practice under her watchful eye, a few simple tools and some patience. Melanie has taught me how, and I've now gone on to decoratively paint so many other areas of Peacock Pavilions myself: floors, closets, doors, cabinets, and even my file boxes!"

The retreat is from October 1-10, 2011. Find out all the details here. {And besides painting, there's plenty of other fun stuff included, too! }Below is just a taste of some of some of the painted and stencilled designs done by Melanie and the Peacock Painters at Peacock Pavilions!

^

^

^

^

^

^

^